

Extraordinary

Robyn Phillips-Madson, D.O., M.P.H., R.Ph.
Dean and Chief Academic Officer of the College of Osteopathic Medicine

Taking PNWU students to work alongside Guatemalan physicians and dentists has been the fulfillment of a dream born in 2000. Some friends and I founded Reach Beyond Borders, a small nonprofit, after being inspired by our friend, Dr. Tito Palacios, to work with the poor.

Five PNWU-COM students worked in Guatemala in June, 2009, and a team of seven more will travel there in March. Students raise their own support for these trips so they can learn first-hand how disease is compounded by poverty and poor sanitation, how the Guatemalan health care system functions, and how they can make a difference in a world of health disparity.

Pacific Northwest University of Health Sciences
College of Osteopathic Medicine

Exceptional Education. Extraordinary Impact.

This ad was underwritten for PNWU.

111 University Parkway, Suite 202
Yakima, WA 98901
509-452-5100
www.pnwu.org